Is Your Porch Useless Half The Day?

Make it a CHARM and a COMFORT ALWAYS will make the sunniest, breeziest porch an inviting all-day living room, where you can read, sew, play games, or take a nap in perfect comfort. At night, a protected sleeping place for those who sleep out-of-doors in pleasant weather.

Vudor Porch Shades

shut out all sun-glare and wind, but let in ample light and air

They give the insider plenty of outlook, but the outsider gets no inlook. They really add another room to your house, as secluded and private as any and unapproached for healthful enjoyment, at a cost so low that it will surprise you.

The way Vudor Porch Shades are made, accounts for their great superiority. The slats are of tough, straight-grained wood, stained (not painted) in pleasing colors. And the warp is of seine twine, such as is used for fishing nets. They have heavy strips top and bottom, and are supplied with the best possible fixtures. They last for years and do not frazzle out at the ends, nor warp out of shape, as do the cheap bamboo screens.

Anyone who has a screw-driver can quickly put them up. They are easily raised or lowered and may be fastened at any desired height.

STILL ROOM FOR MEN IN BUSINESS.

Opportunities and Limits of Various Pursuits.

Taft, at Ada, Denounces Socialism and Muck Raking.

ADA, Ohio, June 3.—President Taft, in an address to the graduating class of the Ohio Northern University here today, gave a world of advice to the young men and women, and discussed at length the opportunities and limits of the various professions and business pursuits. The law, the ministry, medicine, teaching, journalism, farming and modern industrial conditions all came in for a share of treatment in Mr. Taft's remarks.

In discussing journalism the President took occasion to denounce "muck raking," and expressed the belief that that unjust phase of newspaper activity soon will be a thing of the past. He praised Theodore Roosevelt's crusade against muck rakers in this connection. Socialism was denounced by the President, but was referred to as one of the problems which will have to be considered during the next generation. The President said in part:

"I am going to invite your attention to that which confronts you in your start in life and the political and economic problems that, should you take part in politics, as you ought to do, will probably occupy your attention and call for your activity in their solution. In the first place, let us take the business situation. It is, of course, impossible to expect that the famous growth of trade shall continue in the proportion in which we have seen it expand during the last few years, and it is reasonable to suppose that at some time within the next decade there will be some reaction or some financial stringency, or perhaps a financial panic. Nevertheless, the progress that has been made is real and substantial.

"It is said that the opportunity for individual success in business does not seem now so great as formerly, and that, therefore, the opportunity for young men to win success in business seems less than it was 30 or 40 year ago. It has been my duty to select and promote many men in official life, and I know whereof I speak when I say that successful business, whether governmental or private, whether small or large, depends chiefly on the selection of men by whom this business is to be done, and that the promotion which successful men secure is not that which comes by favor, but by the logic of circumstances and for the benefit of the employer. There is, therefore, today as much room for it men as there ever was in business.

ROOSEVELT ENTERTAINED.

Ex-President Has Long Conversation With Joseph Chamberlain.

LONDON, June 3.—Mr. Roosevelt was a guest today at the country home of Colonel Arthur H. Lee, where were also entertained John Burns, president of the local government board; Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston and Captain Robert F. Scott, the Antarctic explorer. The former President arrived early in the afternoon, having stopped en route to have luncheon with William Northrup McMillan. During the expedition in Africa Mr. Roosevelt stayed for several days at Mr. McMillan's African quarters on Juju ranch.

Mr. Roosevelt and Lord Cromer, British agent and consul general in Egypt from 1883 to 1907, were guests at a dinner given by John St. Loe Strachey, proprietor of the Spectator, last night, in honor of Mr. Roosevelt. They sat on either side of the host. Colonel Roosevelt and Lord Cromer are believed to be perfectly agreed on Egyptian policies, and it is said all the complaints of sentimental tendencies which the former President voiced at the Guild hall had arisen after Lord Cromer's administration.

This morning Mr. Roosevelt called on Joseph Chamberlain, and the two engaged in prolonged conversation. The veteran statesman recently returned from the Riviera, whence he went last February, when in very feeble health. The visit south proved beneficial.

PERU HEARD FROM.

Will Withdraw Her Forces from the Ecuadorean Frontier June 4.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The government of Peru has notified the ministers of the United States, Brazil and Argentine at Lima that it will withdraw its forces from the Ecuadorean frontier June 4, as suggested by the mediating powers.

Up to this time Ecuador has failed to indicate what her purpose is with respect to the withdrawal of her army, nor has any intimation been given as to when a response may be expected from her.

ECUADOR FORCES TO WITHDRAW

Acts in Accordance with the First Article of Mediation.

QUITO, Ecuador June 3.—The government has ordered the departure of troops for the frontier suspended and the retirement of the forces now in the field, in accordance with the first article of mediation between Ecuador and Peru.

WRIGHT CHAMPION OF EUROPE.

Wins Men's Open Singles in Lawn Tennis Meeting in Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, June 3.—Beals C. Wright won the men's open singles in the northern championship lawn tennis meeting today. The prize is the championship of Europe.

STONED BY YITALIAN LABORERS.

Reigning Prince of Lippe and Brother Attacked While Motoring.

DETMOLD, Lippe, Germany, June 3.—Prince Leopold IV, the reigning prince of Lippe, and his brother, Prince Julius, were stoned by a gang of Italian laborers while motoring today. Prince Julius received a wound on the head. The laborers directed a shower of missiles at their highnesses, who were compelled to drive away at high speed. Later several of the assailants were arrested.

PEOPLE CALLED TO KILL FOREIGNERS.

Natives Openly Insulting, and Consulate Defiled.

Nanking Situation Depends on Attitude of Military.

PEKIN, June 3.—The consuls at Nanking report that native disturbers in that city have assumed openly an insulting attitude toward foreigners, and have defiled the walls of the American consulate in a disgusting manner. Placards have been posted in the streets calling on the people to rise and slaughter the foreigners and destroy their property.

Threats that a revolution will be launched June 5, the date set for the opening of the Nanking Exposition, are causing some merchants to flee with their treasures to the country districts, where they are burying their wealth.

The authorities at Nanking have removed the bolts from the rifles of the soldiers. The situation is considered to depend entirely on the attitude of the military in the city, which up to the present has not manifested symptoms of disloyalty.

United States cruiser New Orleans and the German and Japanese men-of-war are lying off the town, and it is believed that these vessels will be adequate to protect all foreigners in the event of an outbreak. Commander Roger Wells of the New Orleans has conferred with the commander of the other warships, and they have agreed on a plan for concerted action if necessary.

All the diplomats at Pekin think that an outbreak in the provinces south of the Yangtse-Kiang river is likely to occur. They believe, however, that it is extremely improbable that the trouble will reach this city.

SHIPS READY TO LAND FORCES.

Nanking Placarded to Incite People to Destroy Life and Property.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The city of Nanking, China, has been posted with placards inciting the people to the destruction of foreign life and property. The feeling in several of the provinces of China is still giving the authorities much concern. United States Minister Calhoun at Pekin, in a cablegram to the State Department, transmits a message from the United States consul at Nanking in which he says that the city has been posted with placards inciting the people to the destruction of foreign life and property, in consequence of which considerable nervousness is felt. The minister adds that United States steamship New Orleans is there and is prepared, with the German, British and Japanese warships, to land a considerable force, if found necessary, to protect the foreign consulates.

Passed Assistant Surgeon W. E. Pugh, Jr., ordered to the naval hospital, New York.

Passed Assistant Surgeon A. H. Allen, detached from the naval hospital, New York, and ordered to the navy yard, Boston, with permission to leave the United States.

Pay Director J. R. Carpenter, when discharged from treatment at the naval medical school hospital, Washington, granted sick leave for three months.

Assistant Naval Constructor E. O. Fitch, Jr., detached from the navy yard, Philadelphia, and ordered to the naval hospital, Las Animas, Col., for treatment.

Assistant Naval Constructor P. H. Freetz, detached from the navy yard, Boston, and when discharged from treatment at the naval hospital, Boston, granted sick leave for three months.

Chief Machinist J. Purdon, detached from the navy yard, New York, and ordered to the works of the New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden, N. J., in connection with the fitting out of the Utah, and to duty on board that vessel when commissioned.

Machinist C. Allen, ordered to the navy yard, New York.

The following movements of naval vessels were reported today by the department:

Arrived—Dubuque at Cristobal, Whipple, Hull and Truxton, at San Pedro.

Sailed—Wolverine, from Detroit for Mackinac; Hist, from Manzanillo for Guantanamo; Fortune, Grampus and Pike, from Mare Island for Tiburon; Justin, from San Diego for Tiburon, via San Pedro and Monterey.

MUST BE ACTIVE IN THE BUSINESS.

Not Enough That Druggist Jews Hold Certificates.

Some Concessions Granted Hebrews in the Caucasus.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—In furtherance of its purpose to drive back into the pale—the district formed by the Polish provinces of the Ukraine—all Jews who cannot establish a legal right of residence outside its confines, the Russian government is now pursuing a close inquiry regarding those engaged in the drug business, or who claim to be so engaged. The proprietors of the drug stores chiefly are Jews, and their employes, as well as salesmen for drug houses, traveling in the interior, are now called upon not only to exhibit pharmaceutical certificates, but to satisfy the authorities that they are actively occupied with the business for which they are licensed.

These certificates are rather easily obtained, and are held generally by drug store employes and those traveling as pharmaceutical assistants and salesmen. Many Jews, it is claimed by the government, have established residence on the strength of their certificates, and subsequently ceased to follow the business. All such are now subject to expulsion.

In response to representations made by Hon. M. Friedman, Jewish member of the Duma, was informed that Emperor Nicholas had authorized the Caucasian authorities to make certain concessions to Jews residing temporarily in the Caucasus. The health resorts of the Caucasus are frequented much by persons desiring the benefit of the baths to be had there. The law, however, forbids the residence of Jews in the district. During the season of 1909 the government authorized visits to resorts by Hebrews, and recently M. Friedman received a petition from members of his race, asking that they be granted similar privileges during the present season.

The authorities of the Caucasus are now empowered to grant permits to Jews requiring medical treatment to visit health resorts during the season of 1910, but only on the presentation by the applicants of certificates from the local medical commissions showing that such treatment is required. The permits are granted only to those in need of medical help.

Twenty Jewish families have been ordered to leave Lisichansk, a town in the coal mine region. A petition in their behalf, signed by their neighbors, has been sent to Premier Stolypin.

CAN CHINESE RAISE THE SUM?

Davison Has Tentative $30,000,000 Loan Ready for Railroads.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The consummation of the $30,000,000 Chinese loan for railroad building by American and European bankers is contingent on the ability of the Chinese government to raise the money at home. This new phase of the Chinese loan negotiations was made known today by H. P. Davison, member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., who was a passenger on the Lusitania from Europe.

"My negotiations in Paris in regard to the Chinese loan have been eminently successful," said Mr. Davison. "We have tentatively arranged for a loan of $30,000,000 for the commencement of building operations of two trunk line railroads in China."

Regarding the terms of the loan, Mr. Davison said: "Arrangements up to the present are merely tentative, and are dependent upon whether the Chinese will be able to raise sufficient money in their own country or not. The Chinese government has reserved to itself the right of refusing to accept this loan, provided they can raise sufficient funds at home."

Speaking of the listing in Paris of the stock of the Steel Corporation, Mr. Davison said: "This matter is practically in status quo. There is nothing being done. By that I do not mean to say that the matter has been dropped. It is still pending, but is necessarily very slow, owing to the many legal difficulties in the way."

ABSCESS NEARLY HEALED.

Emperor William Again Able to Sign Official Documents.

POTSDAM, Germany, June 3.—Emperor William was able to resume the signing of official documents today, the abscess on his right wrist having nearly healed. While His Majesty was transacting state papers were signed by Crown Prince Frederick William.

JUNE SALE —OF— MUSLIN UNDERWEAR

Quality is the Keynote of Value at this Undermuslin Sale.

Merchandise without quality no matter how cheaply sold, cannot possess real intrinsic value. A comparison of the garments involved in this sale with the usual sale offering strikingly illustrates our ideas of the fundamental principle of honest merchandising.

We stress quality because quality of the highest order distinguishes every garment offered at this sale. Price lowness is part and parcel to every offering.

We purchased great stock of beautiful Lingerie at sacrificing prices from producers of the finest Undermuslins—hence the choiceness of these garments.

Now is your opportunity to own the daintiest and lightest quality Undermuslins at most moderate cost.

GOWNS from 50c to $2.75 each.

SKIRTS from 29c to $4.50 each.

CORSET COVERS from 17c to $2.25 each.

CHEMISES from 58c to $2.25 each.

DRAWERS from 25c to $1.50 each.

A strong feature of this department is that we carry a full line of extra size garments for stout women; also everything for the children.

TWICE ACROSS THE CHANNEL.

Englishman Accomplishes the Feat Without Alighting.

DOVER, England, June 2.—The English channel was crossed twice without alighting this evening by the Hon. Charles Stewart Rolls, captain of the London section of the Army Motor Reserve, in a Wright biplane, and so far as appearances went, there was nothing to hinder him from duplicating the feat without coming to earth.

The aviator's triumph in restoring Anglo-Saxon supremacy in the field of aeronautics was the greater because of his failure, only last month, to accomplish what he so easily achieved today. Today's victory, too, is a climax to a career of aviation which has included more than 100 ascensions.

He made the round trip between Dover and Calais in 90 minutes.

While two Frenchmen, Louis Blerlot and Count de Lesseps, have crossed the Channel in an aeroplane, it remained for an Englishman, in an American machine, to perform the double feat. The distance across between the two points named is 21 miles, so that his over-tidewater flight of 42 miles without a stop establishes a new record.

Captain Rolls left Dover at 6:30 o'clock. The atmospheric conditions were excellent. He lost no time in manoeuvres, but, after describing a circle, headed toward the coast of France.

In anticipation of the flight torpedo boats steamed at full speed across the straits, but the pace of the aeroplane was swifter. Captain Rolls sent his machine to a height of 800 feet, and at that altitude he skimmed through the air like a great bird. The motor worked perfectly.

The crowd who watched the start confidently awaited the return, and it was not long before the speck which those who had telescopes saw disappear on the French coast re-appeared, growing larger every minute. When finally the aviator became visible to the naked eye cheer after cheer arose from the enthusiastic spectators, and as he gracefully soared toward the landing place made famous by Blerlot the applause was tumultuous and long continued.

He alighted at 7:5 o'clock, at almost the same spot as Blerlot, showing no sign of the strain of his magnificent flight.

Louis Blerlot and Count de Lesseps, the French aviators, have successfully crossed the Channel, starting from the French side, but up to today no one had made the flight with the start from the English coast.

PRESENTED IN CONGRESS.

Measures Introduced by Senator Wetmore and Representative Sheffield.

Senator Wetmore has presented in the United States Senate a bill for the relief of the Providence-Washington Insurance Company of Providence, which proposes to re-imburse the company in the sum of $500 for money twice paid on internal taxation. Senator Wetmore has also submitted an amendment proposing to appropriate $10,000 to meet the expenses of the commission of fine arts, intended to be proposed by him to the sundry civil appropriation bill.

Congressman Sheffield has introduced in the House bills increasing the pensions of Charles B. Greene, Providence, late of Company E, Fourth regiment, Massachusetts volunteer heavy artillery, from $12 to $40 per month, and Mary McDonald, widow of Owen McDonald, late of Battery B, First regiment, Rhode Island volunteer light artillery, from $12 to $24.

Mr. Sheffield has offered the resolutions of the General Assembly, petitioning Congress of the United States relative to an international congress, and has presented the petition of the Rhode Island Section of the American Chemical Society, favoring the bill to admit to the mails as second-class matter periodical publications issued by or under the auspices of benevolent and fraternal societies and orders, or by trade unions.

Mr. Sheffield has presented also the petition of North Scituate Grange, No. 30, Patrons of Husbandry, of North Scituate, favoring the bill to provide for an increased annual appropriation for the support of colleges for the benefit of agriculture established under the provisions of an act of Congress.

MIDDLEMEN PROFIT.

Department of Agriculture Reports on Its Investigation on Cost and Price of Food.

The Department of Agriculture has sent out a report of its investigations regarding the cost and price of food, made in January, when figures were unusually high. The average price received by producers for eggs was 30.1 cents, the retailer paid 32 cents and the consumer 38.1 cents a dozen. For dressed hens, the producer received an average of 16.3 cents a pound, the retailer paid 18.1 cents, and the consumer 23 cents. The producer received 12.7 cents for chickens, the retailer paid 16.7, and the consumer 23.6 cents a pound. For tub butter the retailer paid 31.8 cents and the consumer 38.5 cents a pound; for print butter the retailer paid 33.4 and the consumer 38.1 cents a pound; for milk the producer received 4.5 cents, the retailer paid 4.7 cents and the consumer 8.5 cents a quart.

The highest average price paid for milk was in the South Central states, where it cost the retailer 9.6 cents a quart and the producer was paid but five cents. Western states paid the highest average price for butter, 37.9 cents, for which the dealer paid 32.9 cents. Eggs were highest in the North Atlantic states, where they sold at 42.5 cents, the producer receiving 25.1 cents, and lowest in South Central states, where they sold at 33.3 cents and brought the owners of the hens 27.1 cents. There is a wide difference between the prices received by the producer and that paid by the consumer, showing again that the middlemen secure the largest share of the profits.

MRS. PIERRE L. RONALDS.

A Prominent Figure in Society Dies at the Hotel Astoria in Paris.

Mrs. Pierre Lorillard Ronalds of New York died in Paris today. Before her marriage Mrs. Ronalds was Miss Mary Frances Carter of Boston, and was noted for her beauty and her voice. For many years she had made her home in London, where she was a prominent figure in society and court circles.

Mrs. Ronalds was alone at the Hotel Astoria, and apparently her relatives and friends did not know the gravity of her condition. She had a large acquaintance in Paris, but on account of failing health had seen little of them during her visit, and not long ago she changed her hotel in order that she might be yet more secluded.

Mrs. Ronalds married Mr. Ronalds, a cousin of Pierre Lorillard, in 1853. They separated after a trip to Algeria eight years later. Mrs. Ronalds was much admired by King Edward when he was Prince of Wales and was by him presented to Queen Victoria. Since that time she has been a notable figure in society in Britain.

In order to leave himself free to sign papers concerning some of his property in New York Mr. Ronalds began divorce proceedings ten years ago, but Mrs. Ronalds consented to join in signing all necessary papers and the suit was dropped.

When in New York a few months ago Mrs. Ronalds underwent a surgical operation. She was nearly 80 years old.

HOW TO CURE ECZEMA, PIMPLES AND DANDRUFF.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for ZEMO we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for Eczema, pimples and dandruff. Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as ZEMO has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like ZEMO, too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use.

ZEMO effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants.

With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin diseases explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or scalp diseases by this clean, scientific remedy.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Aldermen Consider Routine Matters, Besides a Claim Against the City.

Mayor Boyle presided and all the members were present at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Thursday evening.

Weekly pay rolls were approved, as follows: Streets and highways, $2,-...; police, $763.42; fire department, $...; city officers, $235.04; public buildings, $11.54; firemen in theatres, $...

The bill of John Gillies, for $100 for raising the roof of fire department headquarters, was approved.

The petition of Henry A. Gray, for extension of the sewer on Farewell street to accommodate a house which is building, was referred to the street commissioner, to report.

A communication, addressed to the commissioner of street lights, was received from R. A. Gammell, asking that the street light at his entrance on Narragansett avenue be made to give some light. He had no objection to gas, but desired some light. It was referred to Alderman Leddy, with power, and the suggestion that probably a change to a Welsbach light would do the work.

Applications of A. Lalen of Fall River and Sam Frank, who has a state license, for peddlers' licenses, were laid on the table.

Applications of Louis Lee for eating-house, Catherine A. Byrne for renewal of peddler's, Mrs. J. J. Banks for renewal of intelligence office and the Father Mathew Society for renewal of exhibition hall licenses were granted.

A communication was received from the trustees of the Jewish Synagogue, announcing that the salary of the janitor had been fixed at $450 a year and that of the assistant janitor at $... a year, this being an increase of $50 for the janitor, to date from May 1. An accompanying resolution fixing the salaries as desired by the trustees was adopted.

John Pinto appeared with a claim against the city. He said his sewer connection was broken when the city paved Thames street and he thought the city ought to make good. This was in 1908, and he received the bill only last March. He understood that Mr. Booth, the contractor, was to see the street commissioner about it. The contractor, A. Booth, was called in and said the sewer connection was close to the surface where it passed the curb line, and when the city dug out two feet and put the roller on the street it apparently smashed the pipe. In answer to a question he said he had not taken up the pavement, though it was after the pavement had been down for a week or more before the stoppage of the sewer was discovered. The bill which Mr. Pinto presented was for $30.33. He was told that the street commissioner would be asked about the case.

There was some talk about the Fourth of July Committee and what it is doing.

Alderman Leddy reported that the light on Downing street had been changed, but not the one on Old Beach road. Alderman Mahoney reported that the one on Champlin street had been attended to, and he had a lamp post moved which was outside the gutter at the corner. This cost about $1.25. Mayor Boyle thought the matter should pay for this change.

Mr. Mahoney, of the committee on excursions, reported that he had learned that the committee could meet General Passenger Agent Smith at Boston or New Haven. Mayor Boyle suggested that the committee had not yet organized. Mr. Mahoney said he had assumed his usual office of secretary, without organization.

There was nothing else to do and the Board adjourned, at 8:15.

PROVES ABLE AND FAST.

Commodore Plant's Racing Sloop Shima, Built at Herreshoff's, Has First and Only Trial.

The newest Herreshoff racing sloop, the Shima, designed by Nat Herreshoff of Bristol for former Commodore Morton F. Plant of New York for racing in the 48-foot class of the New York Yacht Club enrollment, was given her first and only trial spin in Narragansett bay Thursday, under favorable conditions. The trial proved so satisfactory to the designer, and the representative of Mr. Plant that as soon as the boat came to her mooring in Bristol harbor, an hour after the start, she was transferred to the latter by the Herreshoffs.

In manoeuvring in the bay on the southwest end of Hog Island the Shima wore round with sheets flat aft. She was tested on a reach, in going in stays and beating to windward, and proved both able and fast. Her power was tested almost to the limit of endurance, as the wind piped in strong volume from the southwest quarter and compelled the craft to sail under her lower canvas only.

The sloop, which has topsides of dark green, is to sail against the Avenger, Humma and other craft well known in former racing. She has a moderate-sized rig and is manned by seven seamen. Captain John Barr of Marblehead is the skipper.

As soon as the Shima returned from the trial spin, everything was made snug on the racer for a trip to New London this morning, where the owner is to take charge of her.

Commodore Plant is coming from England in his steam yacht Iolanda, the largest and best appointed steam yacht in the United States. Schooner Ingomar, which crept into fame in racing several years ago and made an impression among the yachtsmen abroad once, was the property of Commodore Plant in her early days. She is now owned by A. H. Hanan of New York.

PERSONALS.

....Ex-Governor John H. Mickey of Nebraska died at his home in Osceola Thursday.

....Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Grant of Roxbury, Mass., have just celebrated the sixty-ninth anniversary of their wedding. Mr. Grant is 90 years old, and his wife one year his senior.

....The Pilgrim monument on Town Hill, Provincetown, at the laying of the corner-stone of which President Roosevelt made a memorable attack on corporations, will be dedicated August 5, the anniversary of the sailing of the Pilgrims from Delft Haven, Holland. It is expected that President Taft will make the trip across Massachusetts bay from Beverly and attend the dedication.

....There was no formal celebration of the seventy-fifth birthday anniversary of the Pope Thursday, as it is customary among Italians to celebrate the name day rather than the birthday anniversary. Nevertheless, many of the cardinals, Vatican officials and other churchmen called upon the pontiff and offered their congratulations. The two sisters of His Holiness spent the greater part of the day with him.

....Nearly blind, Solomon Levy of Brooklyn, 108 years old, walked through an open second-story window in mistake for a door. Stepping out on a cornice he lost his balance and dropped 20 feet to the sidewalk. When taken up he was unconscious and an ambulance surgeon from a hospital said he would die. But he revived and told the doctor he would recover. "If he says he will get better, he will get better," said Mrs. Pauline Blumberg Levy, the aged man's 45-year-old wife, who is the mother of his 22-year-old daughter.

....Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, widely known in the practice of medicine both in England, where she was born, and in the United States, where she practiced several years, died at her home at Hastings, England, yesterday. She was born at Bristol, February 3, 1821. Her parents went to America in 1832. In early life she taught in Kentucky and North and South Carolina, later studying medicine at Geneva University and in Paris and London. In 1851 she began to practice in New York city, where she founded a hospital and medical school for women. Returning to her native land she was placed on the English register in 1859 and subsequently practiced in London and Hastings. She founded the National Health Society of London and assisted in forming the London School of Medicine for Women. Dr. Blackwell was the author of several medical books.

Weak, Weary Women

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs.
When housework is torture.
When night brings no rest nor sleep.
When urinary disorders set in
Women's lot is a weary one.
There is a way to escape these woes,
Doan's Kidney Pills cure such ills.
Have cured thousands.
Read this woman's testimony.

Mrs. Mary Cunningham, 41 Congregational St., Bristol, R. I., says: "I had backache for so long that I was beginning to think I would never be free from it. I also suffered from sharp, shooting pains in my sides, had sick headaches and was often so dizzy that I could not stand alone. I felt weak and had no ambition. Having heard a great deal about Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to try them and procured a box. I am now glad I did so, for they removed the pains and strengthened my entire system. I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills and take pleasure in recommending them."

THE GUEST.

[Harrold Skinner in Woman's Home Companion.]

My daddy is a 'fessor at a big, big 'cad.my,
And he has got a picture book of stars, called 'stronemy.
But, oh, you ought to hear him talk to me and brother Jack
'Bout all the funny folks who live up in the Sely Ack.
I don't know what the Sodys do
And never saw an Ack, did you?

My daddy has a telescope that pokes up through the trees.
He let me see the Ram one nigh, the one with Golden Fleas
And pointed out the Fishes in the Pie Seas of the sky.
I couldn't find the Fishes, so I tried to find the Pie.
And found it, too, all by myself,
On Aunt Lucinda's pantry shelf!

STREET CLEANING BY THE VACUUM PROCESS.

It is claimed that the time is not far distant when the present method of cleaning the public streets will be abandoned and the vacuum process will be the only one used in all cities of much size. When this comes to pass the relief which it will bring in the matter of less dust can hardly be appreciated now. It is not probable, however, that even a vacuum street cleaner would keep all the dirt out of our lungs and houses and shops, but it will do vastly more in this direction than anything else which has ever been tried. Street making is being rapidly revolutionized, and the new roads of the present in some places, and of the future probably nearly everywhere until something still better is contrived, are not of the old macadamized style, where the use of a vacuum cleaner would not be practicable, but have a smooth surface which can be wiped free from dust and kept in excellent condition by the use of one of these machines. The expense saved to the city after the first cost, by the speed and effectiveness with which the work could be done and the dust and rubbish withdrawn and disposed of, would more than compensate for the cost of a city outfit.

There is also to be considered the better health which must result in communities where these machines should be used, as the vacuum cleaner would be taking up and disposing of what the inhabitants breathe into their systems by the present method of stirring up the dust, only to have it settle on what comes. In its way, whether that happens to be the street, to be again stirred up later, or the people who are passing at the time. With progress along nearly every line of modern invention and its application in a thousand practical directions, why we still continue at the mercy of the dust in the city streets, doing little and that little of so primitive a character to protect our health and our possessions from its corrupting effect, is a mystery which should be looked into and solved without delay.

The use of the vacuum cleaner within doors has done wonders in the way of removing the dirt of the household which was not thought possible a few years ago, besides keeping the house much cleaner and freer from dust than could possibly have been done with brush and broom, and reducing also the labor of caring for the home to a minimum of time and strength as compared with the old method. With this proven practicability of the vacuum cleaner it would seem as if it must surely commend itself for removing the dust and dirt from the streets, for saving of time and labor, and the securing of the better health for the community. It is to be hoped that the time is not far distant when these machines will be as common a sight in our streets as is at the present time the man with his brush and his wheeled barrel, or the rotary sweepers drawn by horses which are used in some large cities, both of which methods scatter fully as much dust as they collect. The use of the vacuum cleaner in the public streets cannot come too soon for most of us, for it would mean much in the way of health to all and a cleaner and better city wherever used.

The Supreme Court May 31 rendered a decision of considerable importance, and, on account of its relation to previous decisions involving substantially the same points, of great curiosity, which most of the newspapers did not mention at all, while some gave half a dozen lines to it. The decision held to be unconstitutional a law of Missouri passed three years ago, prohibiting foreign corporations from doing business within the state if they remove suits brought against them in the courts of Missouri to the federal courts.

The precise relation of this decision to others involving the same issue depends upon the phraseology of the Missouri law, which is not given. When this case was in the federal circuit court, however, the news despatches said the law forfeited the licenses of foreign corporations which transferred litigation to the federal courts. That is the precise issue which was sustained by the Supreme Court in a case which came up from Kentucky four years ago. The record of the court in this matter is a curious one.

About 40 years ago Wisconsin enacted a law requiring foreign corporations, as a condition of doing business in the state, to waive their constitutional right to transfer litigation to a federal court. Thirty-five years ago this was declared by the court unconstitutional. Chief Justice Waite and Justice David Davis dissented. The state then enacted that its own officials should revoke the license of any corporation which transferred suits to the federal courts. In 1876 the court sustained this law, Justices Miller, Bradley and Swayne dissenting. The ground of the opinion was that, "as the state has the right to exclude such company, the means by which she causes such exclusion, or the motives of her action, are not the subject of judicial inquiry."

About ten years later Iowa enacted a similar law and a case arising under it was determined by the court in 1887 against the state. The court held that the requirement of a license was unconstitutional on account of the motive behind it, the purpose being to deprive foreign corporations of their constitutional right to transfer suits to the federal courts. A foreign corporation could not be deprived by any process of circumlocution of its right to be used only in the courts of the United States.

That remained the law about 20 years. In 1906 the Supreme Court decided a case which came from Kentucky, a law of which required the insurance commissioner to revoke the license of an insurance company which should remove to the federal courts suits brought against it. In the opinion of the court an ingenious effort is made to harmonize this opinion with the one of 1887, by pointing out some differences between the Iowa and the Kentucky laws. Justices Harlan and Day dissented and insisted that the opinion of the majority was diametrically opposed to the law as laid down by the court in 1887 and by a number of circuit judges in later years. The dissenting justices said the opinion of 1887 "rested upon the doctrine that, conceding the right of the state to exclude a foreign corporation, its right to do business in the state could not be conditioned upon the surrender of a privilege secured to it by the constitution and laws of the United States. * * * The decision of Barron against Burnside (1887) is in our judgment decisive of the contention made in the present case * * * We consider the question foreclosed and no longer open to discussion. No condition imposed upon a right granted by a state which prevents one from availing himself of his constitutional prerogative of appeal to the courts of the United States can be upheld."

On the strength of the prevailing opinion of the court Missouri in 1907 enacted a law forfeiting the license of any foreign corporation which should remove suits to the United States courts. In spite of the decision of the Supreme Court in 1906 Judge Smith McPherson of the federal circuit court in Missouri declared the law unconstitutional, and the United States has again changed sides on this issue and sustained Judge McPherson. So for the present no state can deprive a foreign corporation of its right to be sued only in the federal courts by the simple device of cancelling its license to do business in the state in the event of its making such a removal from the state courts.

It is generally admitted that there will be no anti-injunction legislation by Congress at this session. The administration measure has been reposing for several months in the House Judiciary committee, without attempt at action, and it has finaly been decided to allow it to remain there, President Taft having consented to the abandonment of the bill for the present. Prominent labor leaders have protested vigorously against the administration bill and the attitude of labor generally has been hostile, and for that reason it has been deemed inexpedient to urge it in the face of a Congressional campaign.

President Taft has told the members of Congress that if the bill now before that body for a peace commission is passed he will appoint ex-President Roosevelt as its head, as the best man "to induce the nations of the world to limit their armaments by international agreement and to arrange for the enforcement of peace by their combined navies." The President is also reported to have said that he would send Mr. Roosevelt over to Europe with his big stick and let him "make the powers be good." If Mr. Roosevelt continues to talk as he has been talking, he may cry "Peace" but there will be no peace.

The News reprints today, from the current issue of The Bluejacket, the first instalment of an article with relation to the history of the old houses recently demolished on the site for the new Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association building. These are by a well known authority on local affairs and antiquarian matters, and should prove of interest to a wide range of readers.

Across the English Channel and back without stopping is better than all the single trips across, and England, with an American machine, thus far outstrips the French aviator whose first once-across flight was the marvel of the age a few months ago. Aerial navigation is steadily advancing and perhaps, at a not far distant day, some daring flying-machine man may cross the Atlantic.

Ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk of Missouri is squarely out for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, and the party leaders in that state are doing all they can to boom his candidacy. The principles on which he will stand for the nomination are good Democratic doctrines, and on such a platform the Democrats need not be ashamed of such a candidate.

There is a general strike in China against the payment of a new capitation tax. In certain parts of the country the markets are closed, the mills are not operating and business is at a standstill, but as yet there have been no disturbances. The people are just quietly sitting by, refusing to pay the tax.

Providence will not be obliged to close its schools before the end of the term. The city council has made a special appropriation of $15,000 for the department, and this, it is thought, will carry them through.

THE JUNE MAGAZINES.

Among the articles in the June number of the Twentieth Century Magazine are "The Initiative and Referendum in its Relation to the Political and Physical Health of the Nation," by Robert L. Owen, Senator from Oklahoma; "Colorado and Her Resources" (illustrated), by Ellis Meredith; "The New Theatre on Trial," by William Mailly; "The New Feudalism," by Miles Poindexter; "A High School and College of Co-operative Agriculture," by William Thum; "A Modern Parcel Post," by John M. Stahl; "Two Conceptions of God," by John D. Works; "Conservatism in Europe," by M. F. Abbott; "The Menace of a National Health Bureau," by B. O. Flower; "The Return from Elba," by W. B. Fleming; "Young India's Reply to Count Tolstoi," part II, by Tarakuath Das; "The Opportunity of the Religious Press," by Bayard E. Harrison; "Representative and Misrepresentative Government," by B. O. Flower; "San Francisco's Side of the Hetch-Hetchy Reservoir Matter," by Marsden Manson. In addition to these are the regular departments on various phases of fundamental and economic advance.

In Photo-Era for June the serious worker will derive benefit from "Aberration and the Swings," by C. H. Claudy. Of general photographic interest are articles by Leslie S. Truso, I. W. Blake and Earl Fullerton, and the usual array of good things in The Crucible and the Round Robin Guild departments. Charles G. Willoughby, a well known photographic dealer of New York, contributes a paper on the traffic in second-hand apparatus, the importance of which must appeal to every camerist. "A Camera-Tour in Switzerland," by W. A. Rowley, with a series of original photographs, makes a sympathetic appeal to those fond of Alpine scenery. Other pictures are by F. J. Mortimer, J. Craig Annan, Harold A. Taylor, E. H. Royce, Charles Hallan, Wilfred A. French and the prize pictures in the Round Robin Guild monthly and timely contest. "Decorative Treatment of Trees." The illustration on the front cover, which is varied each month, is a base ball scene by Frank Chapman, staff photographer of the Boston Globe.

MRS. TAFT'S INTEREST IN THE PLAYGROUNDS MOVEMENT.

As evidence of her interest in the playgrounds movement Mrs. Taft has consented to break all precedents and permit the use of the White House grounds for a theatrical performance for the benefit of the work of the Washington City Playgrounds Association. "As You Like It" will be given on the evening of June 16, and the following afternoon "Twelfth Night" will be given, the Coburn players being the actors on both occasions.

THE COST OF NAVIES.

[New York Evening Post.]

As high as $16,000,000 run the varying estimates of the cost of each of the two 26,000-ton battleships just authorized by Congress. When there is not a war cloud on the horizon; when the navy is larger than ever before in its history; when the whole country is groaning under the increased cost of living and steadily increasing burden of taxation, Congress is content to waste perhaps $22,000,000. When it is considered that there were years before the Spanish war when our total naval expenditure was annually only $9,000,000 or $11,000,000, and no harm came to the country, the present insensate folly is inexplicable. We firmly believe that if the fact could be got into the head of every citizen that the United States is spending 70 cents out of every dollar upon expenditures for wars, past or future, this colossal waste would stop. It is rapidly getting to a point where it will be a crime against our citizenship, and all because the greatest nation on earth is afraid of somebody, nobody knows who.

State Board Criticised by President of Pharmacy College.

How the Southern New England Will Enter the State—Rev. Mr. Goodwin's Resignation Accepted.

The State Board of Pharmacy was the object for criticism from President John Metzger of the Washington Park College of Pharmacy Thursday evening in the course of the president's address to the class of 1910 at the Commencement exercises in Providence. He declared that there are men in the state holding certificates from the state board who are not fit to have charge of a drug store, and that "it is time we turned over a new leaf." There is a great deal of room for improvement in the system of our State Board of Pharmacy," asserted the president of the pharmacy college. His criticism came as a closing feature of the exercises, in which Mayor Fletcher and other prominent men of the city participated. Fourteen graduates received diplomas conferring upon them the degree of Ph. G. previous to the annual class banquet.

The preliminary survey for the Southern New England Railway shows that the line will come into Woonsocket and Rhode Island through the Edward Harris estate, near Gaskill street. Just after passing through land owned by Dean Academy. It will then swing through the Privilege and Social districts and run through Cumberland Hill to Manville, and then to Providence. In passing through Woonsocket the road's tracks will be close to many mills in the Social and Privilege sections if the present plans are carried out. It will also pass within a short distance of the Blackstone Manufacturing Company's plant. A dozen men are working out of Woonsocket toward Providence and have already reached Manville. It is expected that the latter part of this week the headquarters at Woonsocket will be abandoned and a new base established at Central Falls, which will be a much better vantage point for the surveyors to work from. The road will cross the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad tracks near the two bridges, which are close together, over the Blackstone river, between Providence and Millville Heights.

A meeting of the Pawtucket Congregational Church was held Thursday evening to consider the resignation of the pastor, Rev. Frank J. Goodwin, who recently accepted a call to a church in Washington. As it was understood from the pastor's letter that there was no alternative, the resignation was accepted, and a committee was appointed to prepare resolutions expressing appreciation of the work done by the pastor. This committee was also instructed to confer with one which is to be appointed at a meeting of the church society within two weeks to arrange for an ecclesiastical council to be held some time in September to formally declare the pulpit vacant.

Sergeant Peter F. Duffy, one of the most popular members of the Providence police department, died at his home in that city Thursday evening, after an illness of two weeks. Death was caused by cirrhosis of the liver. He was in his fiftieth year. The sergeant was well known throughout the city. He had been connected with the Central, Second, Fourth, Sixth and Seventh Precincts, and was popular among his fellow officers. He was a brother of District Fire Chief Thomas H. Duffy, who died as a result of a collision with an electric car while driving to a fire January 9 of last year, and before his appointment to the police force was himself a member of the fire department for several years. He was appointed a patrolman in 1883 and promoted to sergeant in 1902.

Plans are being made in this state for a delegation from the Spanish War Veterans to attend the welcoming celebration to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt upon his reaching New York at the conclusion of his hunting expedition. The Spanish War veterans of the New York department are arranging a celebration on a nation-wide scale, and all departments have been asked to take a part in the parade and other exercises. Department Commander Arthur L. Lake of Rhode Island expects to attend with a delegation from his department. Resolutions of welcome from this department and from nearly every other in the country have been sent to the New York department, and all will be handsomely bound and given to Mr. Roosevelt upon his return. The resolution sent from the Rhode Island department is as follows: "The members of the Rhode Island Department, United Spanish War Veterans, offer to our comrade, Theodore Roosevelt, our most sincere congratulations on his safe return to the land of the free and the home of the brave. We extend to our comrade our most hearty and cordial welcome back to this country, in behalf of all the members of the United Spanish War Veterans from Little Rhody." This letter of welcome was signed by Department Commander Arthur L. Lake and Department Adjutant Arthur R. Spink. It was at first intended to have each of the camps in the Rhode Island department take some official action in the matter, but as the notice given by the New York committee of arrangements was too short the department itself took the entire matter in charge for this state.

In the omnibus public buildings bill, which will come before the House of Representatives immediately after the postal savings bill, are two Rhode Island items the extension and improvement of the United States postoffice at Bristol, the appropriation for which shall not exceed $20,000, and the enlargement and improvement of the postoffice at Narragansett Pier, the amount being restricted to $50,000.

By a vote of the Board of State Charities and Corrections, the band and battalion of the Sockanosset School was granted permission to take part in the parade in Providence on the morning of July 4. The action of the board was taken in response to a request of the city council committee having in charge the proposed celebration of the national holiday. The boys of the school have a fine band and the battalion is well equipped and drilled and is expected to prove an interesting feature of the parade.

William E. Clarke Thursday began his twenty-first year as city clerk of Providence. His term of service has been longer than that of any of his predecessors. Previous to becoming city clerk he was an alderman for four years and a councilman for two years.

THE NEWPORT JOURNAL AND WEEKLY NEWS.

THE WEATHER.

BOSTON, June 3, 8 A. M.—Forecast for Boston and vicinity—Unsettled, possibly with showers late tonight; colder; Saturday fair, moderate northerly to westerly winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the past 24 hours local showers have prevailed in the lower Lake region, the middle Atlantic states and at scattered points in the western valleys and eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. Elsewhere the weather is generally fair. The pressure has risen somewhat in the St. Lawrence valley. A weak secondary disturbance has developed, however, and is central at Philadelphia. An area of moderately high pressure has moved down from the British northwest since yesterday, with a centre at Houghton, Mich., and a mild disturbance overspreads the southwest. The pressure in northwestern states is generally near the normal. The temperature has risen slightly in all portions of the country, except on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, and in the southern states where there has been little change. Somewhat lower temperatures prevail in the Ohio valley. In New England the range was from 50 at Concord, N. H., and Eastport, Maine, to 62 at Portland, Maine. At New York it was 58, Washington 48, Atlanta 64, Jacksonville 76, St. Louis 50, Chicago 44, St. Paul 46, Omaha 54, Kansas 45, Denver 44, Los Angeles 58, San Francisco 48 and Portland, Oregon, 48.

A REVELATION.

Gaul's "Holy City" Finely Sung by High School Pupils.

Miss Leonard, Mrs. King, Dr. Luther and Mr. Marden the Soloists.

The singing Thursday evening of Gaul's "Holy City," at the Rogers High School, was enough to recall memories. Up in the gallery was probably the senior listener—about 88 years old—and he had favorable comment to make. He could recall the days when, many years ago, "the old Philharmonic," with Dr. T. W. Wood as musical director, sang good music to crowded houses and enthusiasm ran high. If the writer's memory is not at fault Dr. Wood was also for a time teacher of music in the public schools of that early period. Since those days music has had its ups and downs, here. The present Philharmonic has done good work and in the schools there has been a variety.

Forty years ago there were few pianos, if any; the teacher came around once a week, said, "What did we sing last week, Miss ——," and gave a little elementary drilling. Later, the old High School had better music to sing and sang it with interest. Rogers, at the start, had little musical interest. Sometimes an "opera chorus" was copied on the blackboard, and sung with some interest. When the class of 1877 graduated it sang, in German, a parting song, a translation of which was furnished by the late beloved Charles T. Brooks, and about that time Rogers had a pretty good orchestra, which gave a creditable concert, with chorus, in the Opera House, about 1876. But the every-day experience in the schools then seemed to be that music was an irksome thing, to be dodged on every possible occasion by the pupils.

Thursday evening's performance was in the enthusiastic class and the hall was crowded; indeed, it showed the need of a much better and larger place for so good a concert. While the chorus work sounded well in the gallery, for instance, it seemed as if the soloists were not heard to advantage there; and it was necessary to use nearly half of the main floor for the chorus.

The concert was a revelation. Here was a strictly first-class composition, of considerable length, containing difficulties which an ordinary choral society would feel proud to overcome with even a measure of acceptability; and this company of pupils, in addition to all the other things which school calls for, gave it so nearly perfectly that one old "stager," who had sat for hours, in years gone by, at concerts and festivals of the great and only Handel and Haydn Society of Boston, was heard to say to a companion: "I never heard a fugue sung before." Nobody is to be blamed for feeling injured and bored with fugues as they are often, not to say usually, performed; but the Rogers chorus sang with such complete understanding, enthusiasm, perfect "attack" and precision, that it was discovered what a fugue really can be—and those who gave the deserved applause perhaps never dreamed it was a fugue at all. Everybody realized that it was something fine, the pupils revelling in the difficulties, and tossing them about as if they were no difficulties at all. It is an honor which should not soon be forgotten to have been one of the singers in that chorus.

Naturally, the boys were at a big disadvantage; probably few have voices yet settled after the inevitable "change" which comes to boys. It would have been easily supposable that, even in so large a school as that of today, it would have been impossible to find male voices to make anything like a satisfactory showing beside the great number of girls whose voices "change" in such a way as not to interfere with their singing. But the male voices were there—a little rough, yet, but still surprisingly good and it was by no means an unbalanced chorus. There was a good deal of bass, and the fellows sang up in fine style; even the tenors were at hand, and they presented a good tenor part too. Alto was fully represented and soprano of course was very numerous, and yet did not outbalance the rest.

The shading, the perfect "attack," the splendid fortissimo, and the holding in reserve of much of the possible power of the chorus, all call for commendation and show the most intelligent sort of chorus work. Where they ever had time to make these attainments is the wonder. One of the noticeable points is that, except the soloists, all the performers were members of the school—and the soloists—were Newport people and had all been in the school.

Space forbids going over the different parts of the work in detail. To quote the words of the beautiful contralto aria, sung by Mrs. King, "Eye hath not seen, ear hath not heard" is paid up "for them that love Him;" and one who attempts to depict the delights of Heaven, even by the aid of music, has quite a task. The music all through seems not of this earth, but rather what might perhaps be called celestial. It is a series of beauties, delightfully contrasting with the others, making charming surprises. The mastery of the art of composition is there, but so fully is this mastery concealed that art is quite lost to sight.

After a "contemplation," well played on the piano by Miss Marie Dring, came the beautifully simple "No shadows yonder," a melody so lovely, a harmony so winsome, that one wishes never to part from it. The tenor solo, quartet (unaccompanied), chorus in ringing unison, all were successively employed in this. A tenor solo by Dr. H. H. Luther follows, and then a female trio by Miss Mary Lenard, Miss Marguerite Feerin and Mrs. King, in which some rich, deep tones by Mrs. King were effective. Now was a real harvest home chorus beautiful, like all the rest—"They that sow in tears shall reap in joy"—and the bass's came not later, and the tenors. Mrs. King's aria, "Eye hath not seen," was followed by "For O dear, dear country," by the chorus, ending with a fine ritard, and then the revelation in the fugue, "The Kingdom."

The second part opened with the Cavalleria intermezzo ("Adoration"), also played by Miss Dring, who did good work throughout the evening as accompanist; then a bass solo by Mr. Marden and the wonderfully beautiful chorus of angels, "Holy, Holy, Holy," this number ending with a bass unison opening with a strong fortissimo attack. The chorus and the quartet had a fine number, opening with a fugue led out in good style by the boys; the tenor had a solo, the contralto a solo and then the full chorus—a choice bit, finely sung in all parts—"The fining-pot is for silver." Then follows the beautiful soprano aria, "These are they which came out of great tribulation," and a little later came another surprise, a quartet of girls of the school—Misses Grace Miller, Sadie Hoyle, Maraquilla Anthony and Alva Marsh—which was one of the features of the evening. They sang "Lest the Cherubic Host." After a bass solo comes the splendid finale—it seems just what words be fitting praise from the Heavenly hosts—"Great and marvelous are Thy works, Lord God Almighty—Alleluia, Amen." The basses were heard from on the Alleluia. This number was given with fitting spirit and power.

The soloists are all well known and did excellent work. The chorus, which numbered more than 200, did not lose a whit by having such talent, for it showed itself fit to sing with the best, and the composition was given entire—from cover to cover. It seems as if all the parents and friends of the school should have an opportunity to hear this music in a larger hall.

It seems hardly necessary to add words of commendation for the musical director Mr. Hendy. In all the work of the chorus he could be heard and felt, for it was plain that the singers were heartily responding to his every wish and thought. He feels that, while other departments of school work have been making good exhibitions, the music should not do less, and he has good reason to feel happy over the admittedly big success of Thursday evening.

After the concert Mr. Freeman sent word to Mr. Hendy that he would gladly send men from his band (the Seventh Artillery) to assist at any future concert, and every instrumental player in town of sufficient ability, should be willing to help make an orchestra for Mr. Hendy.

NOT ALL THE GARDENERS GIVEN MORE WAGES.

The report that practically all the owners of estates in Newport have granted the increase of wages asked by the gardeners' assistants is denied by the assistants, who say that five of the most prominent owners have not yet given the advance. These are Mrs. Catherine L. Kernochan, Perry Belmont, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Colonel John Jacob Astor and Mrs. T. Shaw Safe.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Berwind have opened The Elms.

—Mrs. Robert Winthrop is guest of Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor.

—Mr. Daniel Scott, who has been ill for two weeks, is able to be out.

—Mr. H. V. Leclercq and family are here from New York for the season.

—Mr. Thomas F. Nolan of New York has arrived to spend the summer with his father.

—Miss Griffin, daughter of Mr. Albert Griffin, is recovering from an attack of pleurisy.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Havemeyer of New York are at The Muenchinger-King And Cottages.

—The Tow Brothers caught a 400-pound sturgeon in their trap at Saconnet this morning.

—Mrs. F. E. Fairchild and Mr. Frederic R. King are registered at the Casino for the season.

—Mrs. W. O. Graham of Pawtucket is visiting her brothers, Messrs James J. and Harry F. Rooney.

—Mrs. William Grosvenor and family have arrived at their cottage, "Roslyn," on Beacon hill, for the season.

—Mr. Samuel P. Pratt, who has as usual been at his home in Florida, has arrived at his cottage on Bellevue avenue.

—Mr. Thomas Gordon and family of New York have arrived at their cottage on Berkeley avenue for the summer.

—The committee on police station will have a conference with the committee from Jamestown on the site of the police station, this evening.

—Chief Machado; Edwin A. Lathrop of scout cruiser Birmingham is here on furlough, to visit his sister, Mrs. Charles Batcheller, on Marsh street.

—If Tag day should be postponed on account of the weather, it has been arranged with Chief Kirwin to have the "no-school" signal struck at 8:30 a. m.

—C. H. Wrightington has rented for Fred P. Webber his furnished cottage at 19 Gibbs avenue to Lieutenant J. J. McCracken, U. S. N., for the summer season.

—Mr. Henry Clews received the honorary degree of doctor of laws from the Kentucky State University at the Commencement exercises Thursday. He delivered the Commencement address.

—The weather today has been of the comet order, uncertain. At times it has rained, sometimes the sun has tried to shine, but generally it looked bad for straw hats and good for umbrellas and rain coats.

—Late arrivals at the Perry House include H. G. Nelson, F. M. Hildreth, F. L. Nason, Boston; E. H. Benedict, George W. Wesley, New York; W. F. Hubbell, Derby, Conn.; and E. R. Bryan, Philadelphia.

—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Havemeyer of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harvey of Boston, Rear Admiral John A. Howell, U. S. N., and Lieutenant and Mrs. Sewell are at the New Cliffs and Robinson.

—The plans for the new police station call for the driving of piling to secure a proper footing for the foundation, since the ground in that locality is not considered sufficiently secure for construction without this expensive operation.

—Thursday night 327 barrels of fish were shipped, as 12 this morning. The shipment today will be light, as Friday is a poor shipping day. There was only a few of mackerel, 1,000 in number, and they went for 22½ cents; 25 cents had been the previous figure.

—Rev. H. Myren, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran Zion Church, left this afternoon for the semi-annual celebration of the Augustana Synod, to be held at Rock Island, Ill., June 5-9. After this Jubilee the yearly meeting of the church is to be held at the same place, June 10-15 inclusive.

—Mrs. H. V. R. Kennedy, who has a country place at Hempstead, has presented to St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church a stained glass window as a memorial to the first wife of August Belmont, who died September 27, 1908. An inscription on the window says, "Bessie M. Morgan. Present Day Marian R. Kennedy in loving memory."

—Miss Sadie G. Weaver, daughter of Mrs. Duncan Weaver, will be married next Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory to Boatswain Charles Schonberg, U. S. N., attached to the Naval Training Station. There will be a reception at the home of the bride on West Broadway from 5:30 to 9 p. m. The couple will leave for New York on a wedding trip.

—Thursday Newport was billed for the Barnum & Bailey show, which will exhibit in Fall River, this city having been cut out of the circuit and Taunton substituted. The agent says he doubts if any circus will exhibit in Newport this year, as it does not pay, on account of the fact that this city is off the line of travel and the expenses of travel are too heavy.

—Mr. Ober, who has had charge of the field work on the survey for the Rhode Island canal, has completed it and the field force is no longer out. Those who have work to do in preparing the maps and working out the notes have returned to the engineer office, where the closing part of the work is being done and materials for the report are being prepared. The survey made has been satisfactory, covering the district well.

THE THEATRE EXCAVATION.

Clearing of the Land Reveals Another Accumulation of Litter, Which Has Been Burned.

The work of excavating for the new Star theatre is expected to begin Monday morning. The clearing of the site is now well advanced and Saturday conditions will be favorable for bridging over the old cellar, so that there will be two passageways to the site. This will allow the use of a large number of teams, as there is much material to be taken out before construction is begun. There is much more pitch to the lot than one imagines and while the auditorium floor will be on concrete, resting on the earth itself, and the floor will be, so to speak, on the street level, it will require considerable moving of earth to reach this level. Back under the stage construction there will be quite a basement, and this means deep digging, as the stage will come at the back of the lot.

While the clearing of this land for new construction has removed from the heart of the city a discreditable set of buildings and rubbish, it has brought to light another dangerous condition of affairs. Under the rear part of the Bryer building a great mass of inflammable litter, the accumulation of years, was stacked, so that, were some one on mischief bent, there was the best kind of opportunity for the starting of a fire which might sweep Thames street. The locality was hidden from view from all directions, but readily approached by one disposed to scale fences. This has been taken out and burned, as has a great mass of paper from various parts of the building.

The conditions which have been exposed, first by the clearing for the Sherman building and now for the theatre, are but little different and perhaps no worse than many which are to be found in the rear of some of the prominent business places on Thames street, where plenty of inducement is offered for fire, and in cases there are in addition piles of filth which would seem likely to breed disease.

MOTORMAN GRAY DISCHARGED.

Rails So Slippery That He Could Not Stop the Car Which Killed Conductor Crossley.

In Fall River today Charles L. Gray motorman on the Dartmouth & Westport street railway, who was charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Frederick L. Crossley, a conductor on the Newport line, Sunday, May 8, was discharged in the district court by Associate Judge Benjamin Cook, Jr.

Crossley, the conductor who was killed, was in the act of changing the trolley on his car, which was standing on Bedford street, when the car from New Bedford, run by Gray, came up behind him and pinned him between the two cars, killing him instantly. Judge John J. McDonough of the district court held an inquest a week ago and ordered Gray's arrest on a charge of manslaughter. Today Judge McDonough filed his findings in this inquest and held that Crossley's death was due to the gross negligence of Gray.

When Gray's case came up for trial this morning Judge McDonough declined to sit and called in Associate Justice Cook who, after hearing the evidence including the story of Gray, which Judge McDonough had not heard, found Gray not guilty and discharged him. Gray's story was to the effect that the rails were slippery, and despite the fact that he did all he could he was unable to stop his car.

JAMESTOWN.

A large fleet of small coasting schooners are anchored in Dutch Island harbor, being obliged to seek shelter from the rough sea outside.

The committee appointed by the electors at the April town meeting to petition the special committee on the new police station, in Newport, for a more suitable approach to the city for the Jamestown ferry, by abandoning the land occupied by the present station, will be given a hearing this evening in the City Hall, Newport.

Several of the fleet of small boats have been put in commission for the summer and Chandler is busy setting moorings for a number which will be put overboard soon.

Dr. William B. Meany of Washington and his sister Miss Meany, are guests of Father Sullivan, at St. Mary's rectory.

The Allen cottage, on Lincoln street has been opened for the season.

Alderman Albro of Newport was on the Island Thursday.

To allow the teachers an opportunity to go to Providence today, the public schools are closed.

Admiral C. H. Davis and family have arrived for the season and will be at the Allen cottage for a few days before opening their cottage on the Dumplings.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Scott of Philadelphia are at the Greene cottage, on Greene lane, for the season.

DISTRICT COURT CASES.

In the district court this morning Burdick dealer who was charged with selling to a minor pleaded nolo and was fined $5 and costs, amounting to $10.05. A man was sent to the state workhouse for a year, for being a common drunkard, and a drunk was sentenced to one day in jail. He pleaded not guilty at the police station, and after being in jail a week now has one day more.

Town Sergeant Peirce was in from Little Compton with a man charged with carrying a concealed weapon, in this case a stiletto. He was fined $10 and costs. The costs from Little Compton are something and the man was taken to the state farm to serve out his fine and costs.

REV. MR. JONES A DIRECTOR.

Annual Meeting of the Channing Conference Sunday School Union.

The annual meeting of the Channing Conference Sunday School Union was held in the Fall River Unitarian Church with an attendance of about 50, William C. Gray presiding. Officers were elected as follows: President, Rev. J. H. Applebee of Attleboro; Vice president, W. C. Gray; secretary, Carrie M. Brightman; treasurer, Elizabeth Peck of Providence; directors, Miss Alice Nowell of New Bedford, Miss Delight Cushman of Taunton, Mrs Barker of Norton, and Rev. W. S. Jones of this city.

The address of the afternoon was delivered by Rev. William Lawrence of Winchester. His subject was "Problems of the Sunday School," which he handled in an interesting and instructive manner. The conference voted $25 to the Unitarian Sunday School society. The Women's alliances of the church served a lobster salad supper at the conclusion of the meeting.

SENIOR CLASS OF ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL ENTERTAINED.

Thursday the members of the Senior class of St. Joseph's School were given a farewell reception by the Juniors, who had arranged a program of music and recitations for the pleasure of their older schoolmates. The program included a piano duet by M. Walsh and E. Hosmen, a song, "School Days," by the school; violin solo, Clara Holley, recitations by Fabian Dunphy, Catherine F. Shea, H. Pierson, A. Sullivan, M. O'Connell and S. Condon, and an address to the seniors by Daniel O'Connell. After the program refreshments were served and an hour was spent in social intercourse.

CONTRACTS LACK MUTUALITY.

Base Ball Manager Now Seeking Injunction in Cuban Star Case.

CHICAGO, June 3.—That base ball contracts of the usual variety between club owners or managers or players lack mutuality was the substance of an opinion stated by Judge Petit of the circuit court yesterday. The point occurred in the application of A. M. McAllister, manager of the Stars of Cuba, now playing in this city, for an injunction restraining Pedroso, a Star pitcher and batter, from appearing with the Cuban Stars, now playing on the Chicago league semi-professional circuit. The Pedroso bill was filed as a test by McAllister, who claimed to have contracts on others of the Cuban Stars. The bill to enjoin Pedroso was attacked by attorneys in behalf of Pedroso and the Chicago league, on the ground that the contract between McAllister and Pedroso was void for want of mutuality. The contract provided that Pedroso was to play ball for McAllister during the season of 1910, but did not bind McAllister to retain or pay Pedroso for the whole or part of the season.

Attorneys for McAllister asked further time in which to cite authority in seeking an injunction, and their request was granted.

LEG AMPUTATED IN STREET.

New York Man Falls Under Wheels When He Tries to Board Car.

NEW YORK, June 3.—James Bannon, suffering excruciating pain, but never twitching a muscle, lay on a stretcher in the street and calmly watched surgeons amputate his leg after a car on Grand street had run over him today. Bannon had attempted to board the car at the front platform, and slipped and fell under the wheels. He recovered consciousness before the wrecking crew arrived to jack up the car, and showed remarkable nerve, both while he was being extricated and as the surgeons were forced to perform the hurried operation to save his life.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Rev. Dr. Vibbert and Mr. Hamilton Fish returned to New York today.

—Mrs. Van Wyck of New York is here to visit her sister, Mrs. John R. Drexel.

—Mr. L. S. Sisson of Portsmouth brought the first island peas to market this week.

—Miss Arnold of West Chester, Pa., has arrived at her estate on Third Beach road.

—Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bean, who have been visiting here, have returned to Brockton.

—Mrs. Thomas O. Richardson of Boston has arrived at her residence near Bailey's beach.

—Mr. Henry R. Taylor, who has been spending a few days here, has returned to Mount Kisco, N. Y.

—Shades have been fitted to the windows of the new Nurses' Home and the building is being prepared for occupancy.

—Colonel and Mrs. John Rogers have returned from a visit to their son, Mr. Ralph P. Rogers, at Mattapan, Mass.

—Mr. Howard Graham and family of Chestnut Hill, Pa., have arrived at their estate, "Whetstone," near Sachuest beach.

—Mrs. William C. Cozzens and her sister-in-law, Miss Cozzens, have gone on a visit to Stamford, Conn., and New York.

—Mr. and Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock have returned from Washington, where they attended the marriage of their son.

—The Onward Society of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church gave a strawberry festival Thursday evening.

—Mrs. Perry G. Case has returned from Sharon, Mass., and Mr. Philip B. Case has returned from Washington, D. C., and Sharon, Mass.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sanford T. Gladding and family of New York have rented a cottage in Jamestown and will arrive there in a few days, for the summer.

PRESIDENT'S TRAVEL MONEY.

The Expenses of a Month May be Paid Out of His Pocket.

Congressional Mileage—A Line on Roosevelt—Outcome of Lorimer's Speech—Two Connollys.

(Washington correspondence of the News.)

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The point of order against making "immediately available" the President's traveling expenses for the next fiscal year, which was made by the irrepressible Macon of Arkansas, leaves a hiatus of something over one month during which Mr. Taft says he will not cease traveling, but will pay the expenses out of his own pocket. The fiscal year does not begin till July 1, when the new appropriation will become available. At the beginning of the present administration the President's salary was increased from $50,000 to $75,000 per year, and in addition $25,000 was voted for traveling expenses. It is this appropriation which has been exhausted. The Senate may restore the words "immediately available," and in case it does not perhaps the railroads might furnish transportation in the good old way.

Not only the President, but members of Congress, are allowed traveling expenses. From time immemorial they have drawn 10 cents per mile to and from Washington, although since the advent of railroad travel the cost has been but two or three cents, and if rumor does not wrong some of the honorable gentlemen they once had passes, and the 10 cents per was "velvet." Since the enactment of the Elkins law the railroad pass has not blossomed so profusely as of yore, and it may be that most of the representatives and Senators have had to spend a fraction of that 10 cents per mile. Even so, it is a rather large mileage allowance, and there is a move to cut it down to two cents per mile. The author of the resolution to slice off the extra eight cents is Representative Adair of Indiana. My own guess is that this particular resolution will be conveniently lost to accumulate cobwebs in a pigeonhole.

It is an off day that some one does not map out a line of conduct, also a line of political affiliation, for Colonel Roosevelt. The latest tale has it that he has been in correspondence with a certain prominent insurgent and has promised to take up the progressive cause the moment he gets back. Like most of the other stories of this character the narrative goes into details. Roosevelt is to be dined by the editor of a New York weekly that has been roasting Brother Ballinger after which he is to go into some of the insurgent districts and help out the campaigns of the gentlemen who have been making it hot for Cannon and Aldrich. This is the three hundred and eighty-seventh prophecy of what the colonel intends to do and is probably entitled to as much credence as any of them.

It is given out that the prominent insurgent to whom Roosevelt has been writing is Representative Hamilton Fish of New York. It is claimed that the former President has asked Mr. Fish for an interview the eighteenth, the very day, by the way, that he lands in this country. The fact that Roosevelt and Fish have long been close friends gives some plausibility to the report, but as nobody has seen the alleged missive in which the future course of the mighty hunter is so circumstantially set forth and as the size of such things grow mightily in passing from mouth to mouth, the reader is entitled to all the salt to season the tale that his individual palate demands. For any one who wants absolutely reliable news of what Roosevelt intends to do my advice would be to wait till the colonel gives it out.

One of the dramatic coincidences of this session was furnished by the speech of Senator Lorimer of Illinois denying the bribery charges against him and attacking other Illinois politicians and the indictment a few hours later of one Illinois state Senator on the confession of another state senator that a bribe to vote for Lorimer had passed between them. It is probable that the United States Senate will take more thorough action in the case than proposed in the Lorimer resolution.

The final arguments having been delivered in the Ballinger investigation, the attorneys will be allowed 15 days in which to file briefs, after which the committee will take up its work of sifting the evidence and arriving at a verdict. It is still believed that the findings may be reported during the present session. One of the amusing events of the hearing was the mixing up of the two Connollys by Assistant Attorney General Lawler, as a result of which he has a $20,000 libel case to meet. Lawler accused Connolly of Collier's Weekly with having trampled women and children on the wrecked steamer Republic, whereas Mr. Connolly claims he was never on an Atlantic ocean steamship in his life. There is another Connolly, a writer of sea stories, of whom the tale was told.

THE DEFICIT RAPIDLY DECREASING.

An excess of $7,428,712 of ordinary receipts over ordinary disbursements were the results of the treasury operations for the month of May. ## TO SAVE THE WIFE'S LIFE.

Judge Landis Gives Mail-Robbing Clerk Only One Hour in Jail.

CHICAGO, June 3.—One hour in the county jail was the sentence imposed by United States District Judge Landis yesterday on Nelson G. Gilpin, a government clerk, who pleaded guilty of robbing the mails. Judge Landis said he would not sentence the defendant to a longer term, because "it might mean death to some one else." Gilpin's wife is lying ill at a hospital where her baby boy was born three weeks ago.

Judge Landis in his charge said: "The facts concerning the man and his family are such that if a severe penalty is imposed it certainly would be barbarous. I shall not impose a sentence which may mean the death of some one else. I shall sentence the prisoner to one hour in the county jail. And then," he added, turning to Gilpin, "I want you to go down to the hospital as soon as you can and tell your wife just what has happened."

VANDERBILT HORSES WIN AT PLAINFIELD.

At the Plainfield, N. J., horse show Thursday Mr. R. C. Vanderbilt's entries won two first and one second prize. In the class for one stallion and three of his get the blue ribbon went to Tiger Lillie, with Aquidneck, Silfield Lillie and Sandy Point Confidence. Silfield Lillie also won a blue ribbon in the breeding class. Lord Brooks was placed second to Paul A. Sorg's Lady Tuck in the class for single harness horse over 15.2 hands.

June Sale of Undermuslins!

Provide Now for Present and Future Needs and Save at the June Sale.

Never was our aim of "The Best for the Price" better attained than in this sale.

The vast variety of Undermuslins in this great June Sale adds to the charm, and yet the present offerings show prices in every line that are considerably below their real worth. The stock is fresh, new, full and complete. The display is elaborate and represents the carefully chosen best from reputable makers. Notably remarkable is the generous lines on which the undermuslins are cut—their fullness. Quite as prominent in the showing is the excellence of the workmanship—no detail has been slighted, however small.

It is a bigger, better, broader June Sale of Undermuslins than we've ever held before, Come prepared to have your highest expectations for "bargains" more than realized. Come ready to save more money than you expected.

Above all, come early, for the cream of the special values will go first.

The Sale Opens Saturday Morning, June 4, at 9 o'clock.

"The Corset That Moulds The Form To Fashion's Latest Mandate."

It's the corset—not the gown—that provides any figure-effect desired. The costume of this season cannot be worn correctly unless the figure is firs definitely moulded into its proper shape. The C/B a la Spirite Corset gives the form-outline that this year's fashion demands.

The C B a la Spirite Corset

Follows the simple and symmetrical lines demanded by the Woman of Fashion, and gives the long slender effect which is characteristic of prevailing dress modes. It conforms to the individual figure, and being correctly proportioned, allows depth of waist line, snugness over the hips, and the straight front effect without the slightest inconvenience to the wearer.

"A C B a la Spirite Corset for every figure" is a literal fact, there being forty different models to select from.

In short, the all-around merits and general satisfaction derived from this corset is a fact well known to leading dressmakers and modistes and is now generally recognized by the great public of discriminating women.

To emphasize this special selling we specialize these seven models—there are dozens of others suited to every figure.

OLD NEWPORT BUILDINGS.

obtained the stamp masters' approval to confiscate a cargo of molasses.

In the Newport Redwood Library is a well thumbed book, "The Letters of a Young Man of Massachusetts," giving accounts of the infinite sufferings of American prisoners of war, held in hulks on the Thames and in Dartmoor prison in England during the war of 1812. Dr. Waterhouse is the author. The "Young Man" may not be a fact, but there is no fiction in the recital of the brutalities that occurred.

During the Revolution, while the British held Newport, and our French friends and these enemies by turns occasionally fired shot into the town, the French at the British and the British at the townspeople, who were glad in both cases to take refuge behind the soft soap and cider barrels in their cellars, or perhaps in the arched foundations of their chimneys, Marlboro square was termed the Artillery Ground. In fact, there is a denied tradition that this ground was originally given, or held from the beginning by Newport, for that purpose. Whether the British employed it solely to park (or deposit thereon) their artillery supplies or used it as a drill ground is somewhat uncertain. It is certain that the British officers rode their horses around it. There were then no restricting sidewalks or barriers, and the little river coursing along River Lane was probably then as now housed in below.

It is to be regretted that this little bit of the Common, named Marlboro square after her great general in the loyal days of Queen Anne, should now be miscalled Liberty square, for the Liberty's boats, that struck fire from their keels when run up the Parade to their doom in 1769, were not burned on this square, but upon Broad street near Lake's Corner, "opposite the pound" for stray animals.

Except the oblong house (3) and the one (5) on the corner of the Parade and Meeting street, all the houses have small, beautifully constructed, short-flight stairways rising within square entries, proofs in themselves of antiquity, being of older style than long flights and halls. Many-paned windows [illegible] and everywhere are brick bake ovens adjoining the kitchen hearths, low ceiled rooms crossed by a heavy beam, and cornered openly by the stout hand hewn posts, used to frame the houses. Latched doors, cleverly contrived cupboards, and closets, wainscoted rooms, and sizeable fireplaces, some paneled above and others garnished by gracefully decorated or plain wooden mantels. None of the front doors are more than a couple of steps over the present level of the street.

In one of the houses, which one is uncertain, fronting on the Parade Benjamin Dudley had both shop and residence. There is no record that he was a silversmith; he certainly was a clock maker and a worthy successor to Claggett of earlier fame, for in 1785 he made the first town clock, set in the brow of the State House, one that marked time until 1854, and of which the pendulum is now shown in the hall of the Historical Society. Should it be proved that Dudley occupied the middle house (4) of the three facing the Parade, it may be interesting to know that this house was the property of the persons living in the oblong house and in the house on the corner of Meeting street and the Parade. Each owner collected the rent of the adjoining half of the house.

GEORGE MORGAN DEAD.

A Brother of Mrs. Schenck and a Frequent Newport Visitor Takes His Life in New York.

George Morgan, 28 years old, wealthy and well known socially in New York, and a frequent visitor to Newport, where his sister, Mrs. Spottswood Schenck, has resided during the summer for several years, committed suicide Thursday in his apartment in the Mendelssohn Building, New York by shooting himself through the head. Relatives and friends of the young man were unable to give any reason for the act.

Mr. Morgan was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Morgan, Jr., both dead. His grandfather was the founder of Matthew Morgan & Son, a New York banking house, which was well known. His only brother, Matthew, a few years his senior, with whom he lived, is a private patient in St. Vincent's Hospital, where he is on the road to recovery after a week's illness. It was said at the hospital that Matthew Morgan had not been told of the tragic death of his brother. For several years George Morgan had not been engaged in active business. He at one time was connected with Bishop, Laimbeer & Co., brokers.

Mr. Morgan and a friend spent Wednesday evening at a theatre, took a short walk at the close of the play and then returned to their quarters about midnight. Mr. Morgan was in excellent spirits on retiring. In the morning he was found stretched full length on the bed half clad, mortally wounded in the right temple, and beside him a revolver. Mr. Morgan was alive and did not die until nearly 1 o'clock in the afternoon, but never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Schenck, Mr. Morgan's sister, was prostrated at news of the tragedy, and although she insisted on going to the apartment her friends prevailed upon her to return to the Hotel Savoy early in the afternoon.

Mr. Morgan attended Yale with the class of '05 but did not finish the course. At college he was popular and a member of various of the undergraduates' clubs and organizations. He also was a member of the Peneeta, the Brook and the Turf and Field clubs.

A PEDIGREE OR A PAST.

Jerome S. McWade, a Duluth millionaire, sat next to a Philadelphia visitor at a luncheon. The Philadelphian stared across the table at a guest, then whispered to Mr. McWade:

"How that young woman is plastered with paint!"

"Yes, isn't she?" Mr. McWade returned, uneasily.

"Her gown, even for the new spring fashion, is cut entirely too low!"

"I agree with you, madam," the millionaire muttered.

"And such a shocking sheath effect to the skirt! That would never be tolerated in the East."

"I'm sure it wouldn't, ma'am."

"Then why is she admitted here?" said the Philadelphia lady. "She must have a pedigree."

Mr. McWade laughed.

"She is, indeed," he said, "a woman with a past."

A "flea circus" is exhibited on a New York roof garden. It consists of a company of 20 "educated" fleas, which, while bound with golden threads, draw tiny chariots, go through dumbbell exercises, run, jump and do various other tricks that are marvellous to behold.

Your Money Back, Madame If This Isn't the Best Soap

All the different kinds of cleansers you now have in your home—all of them put together—will not do the work that Naptha Cream Soap will do.

Your laundry soap will not wash clothes as white, as easily, as cheaply. Your grit soap and your soap powders will not clean floors, sinks or woodwork as well or as quickly.

Yet it's so mild that it's fine for the bath and for shaving. It can't harm your hands or the finest fabrics. It can't make colors fade.

Your grocer will give you your money back if all these things aren't true.

Naptha Cream Soap

There has never been anything like this wonderful, wonderful soap.

There has never been anything that makes housework half so easy.

Think of the scrubbing and scouring and toiling that all other soaps make you do. This soap does all this work for you like magic.

No more rubbing of clothes—no more scrubbing of floors—no more scraping and scouring. No more sore, hurting hands. Just let this soap do the work.

Isn't this soap worth trying? You get your money back, you know, if all we say isn't true.

10c

Not Like Other Naptha Soaps. No Resin. No Acid. No Alkali.

Your Money Back

Don't compare this with other naptha soaps. The others have lots of resin and little naptha. This has no resin and lots of naptha. It makes all the difference in the world.

Try a 10c can—for your own sake.

Naptha Cream Soap saves you money. A 10c can goes further than two 5c bars of common soap.

ECZEMA—A GERM DISEASE CAN NOW BE CURED.

The Medical profession is all agreed that ECZEMA is a germ disease, but the thing that has baffled them is to find some remedy that will get to the germs and destroy them.

Zemo the clean external treatment, has solved this difficulty by drawing the germs to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the diseases. The whole method of treatment and cure by ZEMO is explained in an interesting book on the subject issued by the makers of ZEMO. It tells how to cure yourself at home of Eczema, Blackheads, Pimples, Dandruff and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Call at Jno. M. Callahan's Drug Store for Booklet and learn more about this clean, simple remedy that is now recognized the standard treatment for all diseases of the skin and scalp.

"My son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. A medical college's treatment did no good. He was so bad that it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heartbreaking.

"I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. Now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day, twelve years or more since the cure was effected. ## AGAIN IN THE UNITED STATES.

Prince Fushimi and His Suite on a Sight-Seeing Tour.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Prince Fushimi, one of the most noted of the Japanese royalty, with Princess Fushimi and suite, arrived here today on the Lusitania from Liverpool on a globe-circling tour which has been in progress two and one-half years. The prince is a commander in the Japanese navy, and was assigned to the Mikasa, the famous flagship of Admiral Togo, during the Japanese-Russian war. In answer to questions through an interpreter, the prince laughingly said he thinks the United States is building the best warships in the world.

This is the second visit of the prince to the United States, he having traveled through the country in 1895. The prince said that his visit is one of sight-seeing. He will visit Philadelphia, Washington, Boston, Niagara and Chicago, and from San Francisco will sail on the Nippon Maru for Japan June 21. Officials of the Japanese embassy at Washington welcomed the party on their arrival.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

Men Who Sold "Wood Alcohol Whiskey" Found Probably Guilty.

WESTERLY, June 3.—John di Fonta and John and Caterina Cisco, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of two of the 14 victims of the so-called "wood alcohol whiskey," were found probably guilty by Judge Oliver Williams in the Third district court here today, and each was held in $3,000 bonds for the grand jury in September. Professor William P. Whitney of Harvard, the principal witness for the prosecution, testified that he found wood alcohol not only in the whiskey which the defendants are alleged to have sold Michael Riley and Daniel T. Sullivan, but also in the stomachs and brains of both men. No evidence was offered by the defense. Di Fonta furnished bonds and the Ciscos are expected to.

THREE BURIED IN CAVE-IN.

Intense Excitement in Vicinity of Park Row and Chambers Street.

NEW YORK, June 3.—Three men were buried in a cave-in today under the sidewalk at Park row and Chambers street, where the new municipal building is under construction. They were taken out painfully but not fatally injured, after an interval during which it was feared they would die before the wreckage holding them fast was removed, and a priest administered the last rites of the Catholic Church to them.

The cave-in created intense excitement in the vicinity, and traffic on the south-bound tracks of the Third avenue elevated line was suspended, as it was feared that the slide of earth had weakened the supports of the "L" structure.

FORT DEARBORN SOLD.

Building and Tablet Among Chicago's Familiar Landmarks.

CHICAGO, June 3.—Fort Dearborn—or rather, the site whereon it once stood—has changed hands. The deal was consummated yesterday between the W. M. Hoyt Company and Palmer C. Goble. When school children of the next generation come to the chapter in Chicago history where it tells about Fort Dearborn and the massacre of August 5, 1812, when 50 soldiers were killed as well as civilians, including women and children, they will learn of the evacuation, the rebuilding in 1816, the abandonment of 1837, the destruction in the fire of '71, the purchase by the Hoyt company and the sale yesterday to Mr. Goble.

The present building and tablet are among the most familiar landmarks of Chicago. The tablet was presented by Mr. Hoyt in 1880. The building was erected in 1871-72, on the ashes of the old fort.

MORE TALK OF THE "JACK-POT."

Death of the Fish Bill and Withholding of $3,000 Looked Into.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 3.—Charges that contributions to the legislative "jack-pot" were made to insure the death of the fish bill, which required the payment of fishers' licenses, were the subject of scrutiny from State's Attorney Burke and the grand jury today. In addition, an effort was made to add to the details of the alleged withholding of more than $3,000 by a legislator who was to have added the collected sum to the general "jack-pot."

Investigation of the alleged bribery of legislators to vote for Lorimer was lost sight of yesterday by the grand jury, which devoted its time to hearing witnesses in regard to the status of the fish bill. States Attorney Burke said he had partly completed a chain of evidence to show that upward of $3,500 was paid by various dealers to have the bill defeated in committee. He said the legislator who collected the money failed to turn it in to the holder of the alleged "jack-pot," which, it is said, was divided among various representatives and senators.

Fish Commissioner N. H. Cohen, Fish Warden Caldwell and other witnesses were scheduled to tell of the alleged contributions and the object of the collected funds today.

The statement of Governor Deneen late last night, in which he called on all citizens who have knowledge of bribery in the legislature to come forward with their assistance, was the central topic of discussion when the grand jury began its daily session today.

RIGHT LOST BY TIME LAPSE.

Government Upheld in Cancelling Land Grant to Oregon Company.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3.—Upholding the right of the federal government to have cancelled the land grant made to the Oregon & California Railroad Company by Congress in 1866 and 1869 of about 3,000,000 acres in western Oregon, B. T. Townsend, a special assistant to the Attorney General of the United States, has filed in the United States district court here the government brief answering a demurrer interposed by the Southern Pacific company, successor to the Oregon & California Railroad Company, which attacked the government's complaint in many particulars. Among the chief points urged were alleged lack of jurisdiction and loss of right by lapse of time.

The brief contains 820 printed pages, and goes exhaustively into the history of the grant and the charges on which the government claims the right to attack it. The relief prayed for is the return to the public domain of about 3,000,000 acres of land still held by the company. The lands are estimated to be worth between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000.

BILL DECLARED URGENT.

Debate on Government's Russo-Finnish Bill Begun in the Douma.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 3.—The debate on the government's Russo-Finnish bill was begun in the Douma today. The galleries were crowded, as interest in the legislation is intense. In effect the measure, which is described as defining the legislative division between the Douma and the Finnish Diet, extends the authority of the former body over the Duchy. All laws of imperial importance are made applicable to Finland without the consent of the Diet.

The bill was drawn in accordance with Emperor Nicholas's manifesto, and has aroused bitter resentment in Finland. May 7 the Diet accepted the report of its committee, to which the matter had been referred, declaring the bill unconstitutional and recommending that it be returned to His Majesty without action. The bill, however, met with favor in the Douma, where, March 30, it was referred to a committee of 21 members. Its ultimate passage was forecasted in the first test vote today. This was on a motion to declare the bill urgent, which was passed by a vote of 186 to 120.

WITH THE YACHTSMEN.

Newport Club Still Admitting New Members and Much Racing Interest Expected.

The Newport Yacht Club at its meeting Thursday evening admitted more new members, swelling its already large roll. Secretary Cozzens is preparing a list of the boats owned by members of the club and at last reports had 119, with a number of others yet to report. It is expected that there will be more than the usual interest in the weekly handicap races this season, as a number of members seem to be taking renewed interest in the racing. It is a question if there will be any motor boat racing, as the owners say there is no sport in motor boat racing; it is too machine-like.

The Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association Year Book for 1910 has been received. It seems to be more complete even than last year's book, which seemed then to be complete. Included in the contents are the racing rules of the Association, the Inter-Bay Cabin Catboat Association rules, the eighteen-foot Knockabout Association rules, those of the American Power Boat Association, the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association power boat rules, the handicap Association rules, the record of races for 1909, the schedule of races for 1910 and a great deal of other information valuable to those interested in boating. The Year Book was compiled by A. W. Harris.

Captain Carr has sold for Mr. C. S. L. Wharton his schooner yacht Thelma to Mr. John H. Gerrie of Boston, and men are now preparing her to go to Boston. The motor which was in the Thelma has been install d in Mr. Wharton's launch Allee and the new owner is putting a new Knox engine in the Thelma, to keep her going when there is no breeze; it is not big enough to do more. For some years Mr. Wharton has not used the Thelma, as his yachting has been confined to small boats, but she has been kept in the best of condition.

At Williams & Manchester's Mr. J. H. Fehlberg's big motor boat Albatross has been launched and is being fitted out for the season. Auxiliary Helen has been launched and the Falconita, now owned by Mr. Sullivan, and fitted with an engine, is ready to launch. The Falconita, despite the fact that she has a motor, will be in the racing of the Newport Yacht Club this season. The new catboat for Admiral Selfridge is practically ready to go overboard.

Mr. Chappell's launch Diana is out at Bliven's for a new propeller.

Mr. Max Agassiz's schooner yacht Kirwin was towed from Castle Hill cove Thursday by one of Champion's launches and hauled out at the shipyard for her spring run down.

MR. FEARING SUGGESTED.

Newport Authority on Fish Culture Proposed for Vacancy on the Commission.

To the Editor of The News:

Dear Sir—While it is very much to be regretted that the seemingly hasty action of the legislature has caused the practical dissolution of the fish commission, of which the state has had such reason to be proud, there is ground for believing that the result of this year's experiment may prove the wisdom of letting well enough alone. The success of Professor Mead, in not merely hatching but rearing lobsters at Wickford, following the admirable commencement made by Mr. Southwick in Newport harbor, is now recognized by the entire world. It has been not merely a scientific exploit, but a business advance of the highest order. The greater therefore the loss to Rhode Island of the services of these gentlemen, whom the state could not well afford to lose.

The writer of this note may be judged to be qualified for speaking thus authoritatively. For the whole of his long life he has been in touch with the development of our fisheries. More than 60 years ago he published upon the fishes of Nova Scotia and Labrador, and described new species which he had himself there collected. By inheritance he acquired this interest, for his father was the leading authority upon the fishes of America before the advent of the elder Agassiz, of whom he was himself a pupil. He is personally familiar with the hatchery at Wickford and he almost daily visited with Mr. Southwick that in Newport, which was stationed just off his own shore. He mentions this from no personal motive, but merely to give a point to what he has said above, and to what he will now add.

It is of very great importance to the national and to the international repute of Rhode Island that the personnel of the fish commission should be restored, if that be possible, to its hitherto predominance. It is of equal necessity to the credit of Newport that the successor to Mr Southwick should be a person to whom we can all refer with pride. Fortunately, we have just such a pre-eminent candidate in our midst. It is intimated that Mr. Daniel H. Fearing might accept the position if elected to it. We all know his unusual fitness for its duties, his interests in fish culture and protection. His zeal in having formed the most complete library upon fishes in existence, his great generosity, and his civic and state prides. The mere mention of his name ought to secure his choice by Governor Pothier, as if by general acclamation.

Yours Sincerely,
H. R. S.

Vice President Natural History Society.

AUGUST BELMONT INJURED.

Falls from His Pony While Playing Polo at the Meadow Brook Hunt Club.

Mr. August Belmont was injured at Hempstead, Long Island, Thursday afternoon by falling from his pony while trying to ride off his man in a game of polo at the Meadow Brook Hunt Club. He was playing with his two sons, August and Morgan Belmont, and Messrs. Arthur Scott Burden, Bradley Martin, Jr., and Hamilton Hadden, when the accident happened.

Play had been fast from the beginning of the game, and when Mr. Hadden in the second period started to dribble the ball for his side Mr. Belmont urged his pony forward with the intention of engaging Mr. Hadden and turning back the ball. Mr. Belmont's pony, which was short of work, "rushed," and as Mr. Belmont attempted to pull it down his mallet, swung between the pony's forelegs and horse and rider fell heavily.

Mr. Belmont managed to roll clear, but as he attempted to arise he fell back unconscious. The game was stopped and the other players galloped to his assistance. His head and face were cut and he was moaning with pain. He was carried into the clubhouse and while one of his sons remained by his side the other sprang into an automobile and raced to Westbury for a physician.

An examination showed that Mr. Belmont's most serious injury was a broken rib. Although he had been cut and bruised in a dozen places. By the time a physician reached the clubhouse Mr. Belmont had regained consciousness, and although the doctor suggested Nassau Hospital, or at least Mr. Belmont's home at Hempstead, Mr. Belmont insisted on going to New York, declaring he was quite well enough to make his journey by automobile. He departed for the city, after an hour's rest, on an arrangement of cushions in the automobile and with only one of his sons for company.

Mr. Belmont sent word to his friends today that he expected to be out in a few days and entirely recovered from his injuries. Mr. Belmont is suffering from a broken rib and several bruises about the scalp and body. His bride, formerly the actress, Miss Eleanor Robson, is nursing him.

BASE BALL NOTES.

After nearly a week of rest the Newport base ball team will meet the Oneyvilles Saturday. The hour for the game has been changed, as it is thought a later time will accommodate more of the patrons; besides, the weather is growing warmer and the days are longer.

The Young Men's Christian Association Intermediates will play the second team of St. George's school at the school grounds tomorrow.

Apparently there is to be no grammar school base ball this season. No one seems to take an interest in that sport, which in other cities brings out some good players, and even in this city made some interesting games. With no one to promote the sport, it seems to have fallen flat.

OLD NEWPORT BUILDINGS.

History of Those Formerly on the Army and Navy Site.

None Later Than Early Part of the Eighteenth Century, and Some Much Earlier.

[The Bluejacket.]

The good people of Newport were agreeably surprised some months ago when it was announced that a friend of the bluejackets, whose identity has not yet been disclosed to the public, had donated the sum of $250,000 for the purchase of a site and erection thereon of a building for use as a naval Young Men's Christian Association. The site selected is in the heart of the city of Newport, under the shadow of the old state house. Our naval readers, most of whom have, at some time or other, rested under the great trees of the Mall will take a new interest in the neighborhood after reading this account of some of the buildings which at the time of this writing are being demolished and carted away for firewood. It is for no ill purpose that all these venerable buildings are to go. A house "not built with hands" is to arise on their foundations. These good old homes, their joys, sorrows, history and cares all past, their day spent, it is not to scorn and oblivion, but to quiet rest, all safe, at their moorings, that they are consigned.

Coming from Pocasset at the head of the island of Aquidneck, the nine founders of Newport, their families, and households, made their landing and named their town on May day, 1639. Coasters' Harbor, where the Training Station now is, too, earlier that morning, had been christened in gratitude for a good night's rest just passed within its shelter by some of these adventurers.

The town of Newport grew rapidly in the vicinity of Farewell—and the later-named Marlboro—streets, absorbing by degrees the open or Common land near where the wooden Colony House was to be placed and supplanted by the present brick State House, an excellent locality for commercial and domestic life then often combined under the same roof.

During the Revolutionary war, the Tory sheriff of Newport packed the town records in barrels, and acting in accord with the view of duly buried them on board a British vessel bound for New York that was wrecked in Hell Gate. There the records lay submerged for three days and were then stored for three years in a garret in New York before being courteously returned by Sir Guy Carleton, the British commander, in New York, on application of the town council of Newport. Naturally they were almost totally illegible. Yet, even without these documents, by other means and by careful examination of the buildings themselves, it is not difficult to determine that the transition from open ground to the congested parcel of houses now standing upon the oblong piece of land bounded by River lane, the Parade, Farewell and Meeting streets, and lately purchased for the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, must have occurred very early in the settlement of the town. While some are decidedly earlier, none of the foundations are likely to be later than 1710-20, which is the middle of the second period of New England architecture, that of 1700-1730.

Over ground the architects and builders of that period have left examples of their good, honest work, even if they are now somewhat altered and enlarged. All may be traced in detail by the new series of town records since the dawn of peace in 1783, when unquestionably none of the houses were new, down to the present day. Except for a few minor additions a map of 1850 shows the old foundation lines to be those of today. The cellar walls are all of stone, laid dry in some places, yet mostly mortar finished within. The chimneys are invariably great stacks of brick, mounted upon huge square bases of stone that rise as high as the sills of the houses and are laid dry or in mortar, except in the house (5) on the corner of the Parade and Meeting street, where the chimney base consists of a beautifully built arch shaped like a bomb proof casemate in Fort Adams, of which it is highly suggestive—in miniature.

Old Fireplace and Bake Oven in One of the Buildings now Torn Down.

The house (1), fronting north upon Marlboro square with River lane at its doorstep, contains within its flimsy modern exterior a good portion of a solid ancient building known to date back to 1695, and described 30 years since, as wearing long ago a roof sadly out of level. It was of such picturesque quality as to incite that eminent artist, Mr. John La Farge, to carry his paraphernalia himself to the spot in company with an equally famous brother brush, only to arrive as the transition to its present condition occurred! In this house the winged chimney slopes upward on either hand and the bake oven occupies the south side by itself. The whole rests upon a dry stone pier. Some of the red bricks about this chimney are broader and thinner than the ordinary.

In the eighteenth century Timothy Waterhouse owned this building and here, in the year 1754, his son Benjamin, who became a distinguished physician and a professor of botany in Harvard College, was born. In after years Dr. Waterhouse was noted for his love of his early home; he was versatile, a good writer, gifted with happy ability to depict character truthfully, yet without malice and prone to make daring flights in his profession regardless of the objections of conservative seniors. His lancet first introduced vaccination into Newport, if not into America, and thus emptied the huts upon Coasters' Harbor island of the victims of small pox and inoculation. Highly educated in Europe, Dr. Waterhouse was a patron of education and art.

Perhaps most interesting of all in regard to his old homestead is his own account of how he, an active inquisitive boy of eleven, rushed down the short-flight stairway, and out round the corner into Broad street, to witness an infuriated mob of citizens sacking the fine house of Martin Howard, tearing out windows, doors, furniture, books and ornaments, even attempting the great chimney top itself, after the derisive burning in effigy, before the State House, of Howard and the two other stamp masters. These frightened victims had fled to the king's sloop of war Cygnet, anchored inside of Fort George, on Goat Island, now the Torpedo Station—she herself also a cause of the mob's indignation, inasmuch as she had

TAKES THE PIANO.

Miss Albro Presents Winning Number at the Bijou, Where the Indians are Great Attraction.

Miss Mary Albro, employed at the Newport Illuminating Company's office, telephoned the Bijou Theatre Thursday evening for the number of the piano coupon and later presented the corresponding part. She was informed that the piano was hers and she might take it away as soon as she liked. During the winter Miss Albro had the luck to hold the winning coupon for a $5 gold piece at Barney's.

The band of four Sioux Indians and several cowboys is attracting considerable attention at the theatre, because of the exhibition they give of life on the plains, bringing to the people of Newport a better idea of these people and their dress than is to be gained by reading matter. "On the War Path" is the title of one of the pictures run on the screen, and during its showing the Indians supply the various noises incident to the scenes, "which give them realism, especially since the audience appreciates the fact that the noises are not mimicked by palefaces. The appearance of the Indians on the street and in front of the theatre is a great attraction to the youngsters and it is amusing to note with what awe urchins stand at a respectable distance and study the red men.

Another picture which is attracting attention is of a heavy sea rolling in against a jetty. It is so true to life that one is disposed to dodge when the sea breaks in the foreground, and wonders how it was possible to work the camera at such close range.

At the extra morning exhibition Saturday, the members of the Children's Home have been invited to attend.

"BE WISE."

There is no time in the year 1910 that coal can be bought as low as at the present time, therefore it is good policy and true economy to lay in as much coal as will be needed through next winter.

Dollars Can be Saved by Doing So.

Besides saving money coal is in better condition during the months of June and July than at any other months of the year, and those that take advantage of the low prices and put in the winter coal NOW have the BEST coal and LOWEST prices of the year. Try some of the beautiful coal in the yards of

TWO JUNE WEDDINGS.

Miss Murray and Mr. McGrath Married at St. Mary's—Miss Higgins and Mr. Brooks at the Rectory.

The marriage of Miss Helen Adelaide Murray, daughter of Mrs. John Murray, to Mr. Henry Matthew McGrath took place Thursday morning at St. Mary's Church, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's mother on Pope street. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. John E. Fay of New Britain, Conn., assisted by Rev. William Phelan of Providence as deacon and Rev. John T. O'Rourke of St. Joseph's Church of this city as sub-deacon, these three priests having been classmates of the groom at St Michael's College. Rev. Martin F. Reddy was master of ceremonies. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. William B. Meenan, pastor of St. Mary's.

The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls and Duchess lace, en traine, her veil being caught with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley in shower effect. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes V. Murray, as bridesmaid, who wore a gown of peach-colored crepe with hand-painted trimmings and a large hat with black plumes. She carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The groom was attended by Mr. John F. Murphy of New York as best man. The ushers were Messrs. John E. Murray, brother of the bride; Michael F. Martin, a cousin; Alfred J. O'Connor and Arthur J. Leary.

Mr. Albert Commette, organist of the church, played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the bridal party entered the church and the Mendelssohn wedding march after the ceremony, and also rendered the music during the mass.

The reception, from 1 to 4 o'clock, attracted a large number of friends, including many from out of the city. The gifts included a large mahogany dining table from the employes of the postoffice, where the groom is a clerk, and a china cabinet from members of the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. McGrath left during the late afternoon in an automobile for Bristol and boarded a train for Providence, en route for New York and Washington. The reception was continued after the groom and bride had left and well into the evening.

Miss Mary Higgins and Charles Brooks, third assistant engineer on steamer Commonwealth were married Thursday at St. Mary's Church, Rev. William B. Meenan performing the ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends. A wedding breakfast was served at the residence of Mrs. John Reagan on Edgar court and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Brooks left on the boat for New York for a brief wedding trip. They will reside on Bridge street.
